The image shows a single page from an old, damaged manuscript. The paper is yellowed and stained, with significant wear along the edges. The text is written in a cursive script, characteristic of the 16th or 17th century. The page is organized into several vertical columns by faint lines. The leftmost column contains a list of names or places, followed by columns of numbers and other markings. The rightmost column is mostly blank, with some faint text visible at the top.

This image shows a single, blank page from an old book. The paper is a light cream or off-white color, showing signs of age such as slight yellowing and faint creases. A prominent dark, irregular tear or hole runs along the bottom edge of the page. There are some very faint, illegible markings scattered across the surface, possibly ink bleed-through from the reverse side or dust. The overall texture appears slightly grainy.
